ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The conference addresses those who show a genuine interest in enhancing their research skills in European studies and in contributing to developing a transnational network of contacts and cooperation. The two-day conference aims to transmit knowledge about the EU economic, social and political responses vis-à-vis the ongoing crisis, to draw together scholars, researchers, experts, civil society activists and to encourage an exchange of views. The purpose of this event is to provide a proper context for mutual dialogue, joint knowledge and a better understanding of the challenges the EU faces in times of economic crisis.

Who will take part in our academic event?

Participants from the EU and non-EU countries, international experts, MA students, PhD candidates, post-doc fellows, researchers, civil society activists, NGO leaders, consultants, policy advocates and many more.

What kind of opportunities does this conference offer?

Two days of sharing the latest academic research results, excellent networking opportunities, possibilities to create links for future cooperation in the field of academic (preparing potential research projects, participation in upcoming events, establishing common publishing goals).

The event is part of the EURINT conference series which was successfully launched in 2013 in the frame of the Jean Monnet Life Long Learning Programme. Since 2013, the EURINT conference series has established itself as a visible academic event in the field of European Studies and in this regard we aim at developing it into a traditional conference series.

CONFERENCE RATIONALE

The purpose of this event is to provide a proper context for mutual dialogue, joint knowledge and a better understanding of the challenges the EU faces in the current context marred by an ongoing economic recession. In this line, the conference seeks to bring participants together under a common roof, where European values are widely shared and diffused beyond the national differences that characterise us. This common approach will build stronger and more effective future partnerships and cooperation opportunities. In this regard, we want to lay the foundations of a strong network of young researchers and specialists who will hopefully make positive changes in the future of the EU integration project.

The programme is structured around scientific sessions with the aim of providing participants with a comprehensive understanding of the EU's challenges in times of crisis. The conference will comprise lectures delivered by international academic experts, which will be followed, after short brakes, by round tables and presentations of participants' recent research. Participants will be encouraged to take the floor with speakers and challenge them with their own views and reflections of the topic in a much more interactive way. This is your chance to present a topic that interests you and to take the role of speaker or moderator.

The conference welcomes contributions on the following topics:

- ✓ The EU economy under siege. Lessons from Europe's long recession;
- ✓ The macroeconomic (in)stability of the EU economy;
- ✓ EU sustainable development, regional cohesion and European policies;
- ✓ The EU social model at crossroads;
- ✓ The EU institutional framework. Time for a rethink?;
- ✓ The impact of the European crisis on the EU's international role;
- ✓ European Neighbourhood Policy / Eastern Partnership - post-Vilnius Summit future developments.

The Eastern Journal of European Studies EJES (ISSN: 2068-6633) – is a biannual academic journal and seeks to provide a forum for multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary dialogue between ideas and a framework for theoretical and empirical analyses covering major areas of subjects in the European studies field: European History, Politics, European Economy and European Policies, EU Community law, European Culture and Society.

✉ ejes@uaic.ro

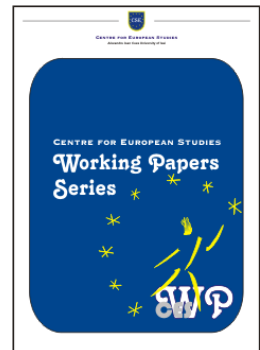

As CES's primary journal, during the 3 years since it had been printed for the first time, EJES has already published the papers of over 70 researchers from more than 40 universities and institutes all over the world.

CES Working Papers (ISSN 2067 – 7693) The issues are not focused on a particular subject; the papers cover different subjects connected with the European studies.

CES WP was designed in order to offer the opportunity for young researchers to publish their scholarly papers, the results of their research activity, to get a feedback from the other researchers, to improve the methodology and to validate the results.

✉ ces.workingpapers@gmail.com

Both publications are peer-reviewed journals and the CES shows special interest and care in maintaining the high quality of the published articles and in guaranteeing a better international visibility by indexing them in international databases and sending volumes to over 30 libraries and European documentation centres in different EU countries. We invite you with high interest and regard to publish your research in our academic journals and we assure you of a prompt response to your proposals.
